

Local Collections Firm Offers an Online Debt Collection Service Designed Exclusively for Physicians

Computer Credit, Inc. (CCI), a Winston-Salem, NC-based medical collections firm offers an online collection service, MD-COLLECT™. MD-COLLECT offers private practice physicians a low cost collection service through an easy-to-use Internet-based system.

CCI is a licensed collection agency specializing in healthcare collections and serves major healthcare organizations and physician groups across the nation. MD-COLLECT serves a need private medical practices that need to collect from a small number of their patients in an economical and efficient manner.

The website, www.md-collect.com, is designed to make the collections process as simple as possible for busy private practices. MD-COLLECT collects delinquent self-pay accounts for $7 per account referred and provides access to account information and online reports 24 hours a day, 7 days a week. Unlike other medical collections services, physician groups using MD-COLLECT are charged only $7 per account referred. MD-COLLECT does not charge contingency or registration fees and does not require a minimum number of referrals.

“MD-COLLECT provides a cost-effective solution that is convenient and easily accessible for the small physician practice market,” explains Beth Barksdale, President of CCI and MD-COLLECT. “One of the advantages of using MD-COLLECT is that the website circumvents the need for laborious, time-consuming efforts by office staff to collect self-pay dollars,” explains Barksdale.

Since 1972, CCI has produced significant collection results for the healthcare community. CCI was the first collection agency to form strategic business alliances with the nation's leaders in health information systems. For over three decades, the capability to use CCI's collection service has been integrated into most patient accounting products, allowing clients to receive a cost-effective collection solution. With MD-COLLECT, small physician practices can now utilize CCI's collection service via the Internet and experience the same benefits as hundreds of hospitals across the nation.
